

Creekside Park Village Center

This is an artist's rendering that depicts proposed plans that are subject to change.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- Approximately 100-acre village center for daily shopping needs of residents of the Village of Creekside Park and surrounding areas
- H-E-B grocery and drug store anchors
- Retail, medical office, professional office, recreational and institutional uses (Fire Station)
- Craftsman style architecture, in keeping with the design of other public buildings, parks and signage throughout Creekside Park
- Focal point is the Village Green, a large tree-lined park with lush perennial plantings and walkways
- Village Green includes a prominent water feature for families and a 4,500-square-foot glass-walled restaurant
- The park is flanked by two 42,000-square-foot split-level buildings with retail space on the first floor and office space on the second floor
- Village Green is the western terminus of Liberty Branch, a large traditional neighborhood development with easy pedestrian access to the center
- Future expansion of the center is planned to include two additional one-story 13,000-square-foot retail/office buildings situated at the entrance to the Village Green
